FINDING THE LEADERS OF TOMORROW TODAY
We start this new academic year with tremendous uncertainty and challenge, and more than anything we hope you and your family, and your students and their families, are healthy and safe.

Since last winter, COVID-19 has upended lives and caused great pain and hardship for many, and more recently the Black Lives Matter movement has brought much needed attention to long-standing systems of structural racism, white supremacy, and widespread inequity in our country. This Fall, many high school students begin the term unsure of when they will return to the classroom and seniors will apply to colleges after a disrupted junior year and without the benefit of visiting campuses.

In light of the challenges students will face this year, we have made several important but necessary changes to our recruitment programs and admission policies that we want to bring to your attention.

VIRTUAL EVENTS: All of our recruitment programs will be virtual, at least through the Fall. We have developed an expansive menu of online opportunities for prospective students and families to get to know UVA and learn about our community, Charlottesville, and our admission and aid policies and programs. We encourage you to explore our interactive UVA Student Experience website (virginia.edu/student-experience). Through this site, the UVA experience comes to life.

TEST-OPTIONAL: Like many colleges and universities, we have adopted a test-optional admission policy for 2020-21. Standardized testing is not required for admission and students who do not submit testing will not be disadvantaged in our application review.

APPLICATION DEADLINES: We have moved back our Early Decision deadline by two weeks. The Early Decision and Early Action application deadlines are now both November 1. The Regular Decision deadline remains January 1.

I am proud that, despite reductions in revenue this year as a result of COVID-19, UVA remains committed to offering the best need-based financial aid program for a public institution in the country.

— ALL Virginia undergraduate students with a family income of less than $80,000 are eligible to receive financial aid covering the full cost tuition, as well as University and school fees for up to eight semesters.

— ALL Virginia undergraduate students with a family income of less than $30,000 are eligible to receive full tuition, University and school fees, and housing and dining expenses for up to eight semesters.

— We are need-blind in our admission policies and UVA meets 100% of financial need for all U.S. students, including non-Virginia residents.

— The University Achievement Awards, Ridley and Holland Scholarships, and the Blue Ridge Scholars program provide further assistance by reducing the loan component for incoming students with exceptional promise and financial need.

— The Jefferson Scholarship is one of the premier merit-based scholarship programs in the country. The scholarship covers the FULL cost of attendance to UVA for four years.

This year will be challenging for everyone. We know you and your students will have questions. We will do our best to be flexible and transparent. Please know we are here to help. During times like these, we are especially grateful to partner with you to best serve and support the next generation of leaders.

Thank you for all you do, and please be safe.

Best wishes,

Greg W. Roberts
Dean of Undergraduate Admission of the unmet financial need for all U.S.-based students through scholarships, grants, work-study, and need-based loans. Plus, we accept students solely on their academic merit, regardless of their ability to pay, because we know tomorrow’s leaders can come from anywhere.

The entering class includes graduates of 1,219 secondary schools throughout the world, including 753 public schools and 455 private schools. The entering class includes 526 first-generation college students. Fifty-two percent of the students in the first-year class attended public schools.

The entering class of 2024 includes students from 526 first-generation college students. Fifty-two percent of the students in the first-year class attended public schools.

The University of Virginia ranks among the nation’s best colleges and universities. Since U.S. News began a separate listing of the top 50 public universities, UVA has been ranked fourth or higher. In the 2020 rankings edition, we placed 4th among public universities and 28th among all national universities.

ACADEMIC RANKINGS

The Echols, Rodman, and College Science Scholars (CSS) programs are three honors programs at the University of Virginia. No special application is required for admission to these programs; everyone who applies for admission is automatically considered. In selecting candidates for the Echols and Rodman programs, the Committee on Admission looks for applicants who have excelled academically and exhibit unusual intellectual curiosity. Students selected to CSS have demonstrated a desire to perform scientific research at the University.

CLASS RANK IN SECONDARY SCHOOL

Summary by school of students who were in the top ten percent of their secondary school. Fifty-seven percent of students are from schools that do not report rank.
OUTCOMES

UVA students are given many opportunities to excel and find their best future. These include a dedicated University Career Center team; an active alumni network full of driven, successful Hoos committed to coming back and giving back; and access to a host of internships, externships, honors programs, and fellowships.
